To Vote or Not to Vote.

That is the question that is just now agitating the minds of the female members of society, as Betsy Bobbett puts it, to the exclusion of the old topics of spring styles, house furnishing, society events and the other things that have hitherto engrossed the fair sex. Not only the Ohio women but the women of the great commonwealth of New York, are just now all in a flutter over expected equal suffrage, and it is said that in New York's "400," woman suffrage is talked of to the exclusion of everything else. Clubs for the study of politics and the science of government have crowded out all other literary movements and, be it said to the credit of the women, they are not going into politics without being intelligent. Informed as to what is expected of them when it comes to casting ballots, and that cannot be said of the floating male vote that holds the balance of power in so many of the large cities. But, as we started to say, the women of the country are not a unit when it comes to voting. The fin de siècle woman is of course anxious to cast a ballot. She is ready to yield her "pet privileges" to the larger prerogative entailed by "rights" and she wants to vote, just as she wants to exercise all the other rights that belong to the sphere of progressive womanhood. But conservative woman, of whom there is a legion in the land, is not just sure that she cares, or wants, or stands in suffering need of the right of suffrage and so it will be some little time before equal suffrage is established on the same sure footing with equal tax paying.

But to change the subject the season of the year is here when everybody should guard well his or her health and manner of living. The system needs building up, whether it be man or woman, girl or boy, old or young, and just the place to go to get the required medicines or stimulants is at Saur & Balsey's, when any one can find the remedy to fit their case.

In fact this store is headquarters for all known remedies in the medical science. Their drugs are fresh and pure, their medicines of the best concoctions in the market, and intended for both man and beast. The human system at this season of the year not only needs attention, but also the system of your stock. Look after the welfare of your stock as well as the welfare of yourself.

The wall paper department of this house is the most complete in this section of the State. As is also their paint and oil department. As this is the season of the year to brush up and brighten the appearance of your homes, you can do no better than by selecting your supplies at the store of Saur & Balsey. A fine line of window shades and decorations. All these goods are sold so cheap that it is sheer folly to let your homes wear the old and dilapidated appearance. Come in and lay in a supply of these goods, brush up and add your mite towards making life beautiful and comfortable.

STABBED TO DEATH.

President Carnot of France Assassinated

BY A YOUNG ITALIAN ANARCHIST.

LYONS, June 25.—M. Carnot died at 12:45 a. m. immediately after the death of M. Carnot Prime Minister. Dumas started on his return to Paris to officially announce the news to the senate and the chamber of deputies.

After M. Carnot had been taken to the prefecture it became generally known that his assassin was an Italian, and the feeling of indignation among the crowd found vent in the form of attacks upon cafes kept by Italian natives of Italy. Three such places in the vicinity of the palace of commerce were totally wrecked by the infuriated mob. French lads, which were in abundance, were then procured by the crowd and with cries of "Down with the foreigners!" "Out with them!" hundreds of men and boys marched to the Rue de la Barre, in which street the Italian consulate is situated.

There is no doubt that the consulate would have been sacked had it not been for the prompt action of the police, who stopped the crowd and compelled its members to disperse.

The excitement continues at fever heat, and would take very little to precipitate bloody anti-Italian riots. All over the city threats are being made to take summary vengeance upon the contributors of Saur & Balsey, and the authorities, fearing that attempts will be made to put these threats into effect, ordered bodies of cuirassiers to patrol the city to prevent any outbreak. Everywhere the troops are greeted with the cries of Long live the army.

Santo, who speaks French badly, when questioned by the police at the police station in Rue Maitre, said he lived at Cote de la Harpe, for the past six months, and had only come to Lyons yesterday. He refused, however, to answer any of the many questions put to him by the police, and he was taken to the prefecture, declaring that on this subject he would speak only before a tribunal. When he was searched by the police, a book was found in one of his pockets, in which it was written that he had been born in a village in the Province of Milan, Italy.

LYONS, June 25.—The most intense excitement has been caused everywhere in France by what proved to be a successful attempt to assassinate President Carnot. The assassin, an Italian anarchist named Cesare Giovanni Sante, was shot dead by the police.

The president was visiting Lyons in connection with the international exhibition. Upon his arrival here he was given a reception at the prefecture, after which he visited the exhibition. After spending some time at the exhibition, he proceeded to the city hall, where a banquet was given in his honor.

Just at this moment M. Carnot was waving his right hand and saluting with his hat in his left hand in response to the ovation of the crowd. He was then struck by a bullet from the left, which entered his chest and passed through his lungs. He fell backward, and the crowd rushed upon the step of the president's carriage, and then the President Carnot was taken to the hospital.

At 12:45 o'clock last night President Carnot started for the theater, where a gala performance was given in his honor. Several carriages were in the procession, the first one being occupied by the president. Mr. Carnot was seated in the second carriage, and he was accompanied by his wife and children. The carriage was stopped by a man who was armed with a knife and a revolver. He then turned into Rue la Republique, still following the facade, when he was shot by a man in the crowd. The man who shot the president was then taken to the prefecture, where he was held in custody.

M. Rivaud, prefect of Lyons, who was seated beside M. Carnot, immediately struck the assassin a blow on the face and knocked him to the ground. This prevented the man from again stabbing the president, which it was his evident intention to do. The man was then taken to the prefecture, where he was held in custody.

"Mort à la assassine," were heard on every side, and the crowd in the vicinity of the carriage seemed to enormous proportions. It seemed as if the crowd was intent on killing the assassin.

He was grasped by a dozen hands and the force of his fall was broken. He was then taken to the prefecture, where he was held in custody.

In the meantime physicians were hastily summoned to attend the president, who almost immediately been conveyed to the prefecture. A careful examination was made of the wound, and the doctors declared that the condition of M. Carnot was hopeless.

SENAT ON THE THEATRE.

The receipt of the news of the assassination caused a great sensation at the theater, which was filled to the walls by the elite of Lyons. All eyes were turned to the entrance of the president, and all were unable to understand the delay. Suddenly a man entered, crying at the top of his voice: "The president has been assassinated!"

The most intense excitement followed this abrupt announcement. Women screamed and several fainted. Many men, without waiting to secure their hats, ran out of the building in order to confirm the news. They found all the streets leading to the place filled with excited throngs, and in a few minutes they were convinced that the report of cowardly attempt upon the life of the president was true.

Suddenly through the throng sped a landau carrying Adrien Dumas, brother of the prime minister. Deputy Chanzy and prefect Rivaud, the crowd falling away before it as it dashed into the Rue de la Republique, preceded by four mounted gendarmes. The crowd thinking now that the report of the assassination was untrue and that the president was in the carriage shouted "Vive Carnot!" "Vive la Republique!"

The carriage was stopped and M. Chanzy and Rivaud in tremulous voices said: "Don't shoot so. The president is the victim of an outrage." The cheers were instantly turned to curses, and many loud wails were the cries for vengeance.

The landau proceeded to the theater, where M. Rivaud and Chanzy went to the president's box. As soon of they were seen the whole audience arose and amid profound silence, M. Rivaud said in a voice broken with sobs: "The president has been assassinated."

This announcement was received with a terrible explosion of fury as the audience, when the first report of the assassination was received, had, though greatly excited, generally discredited it. The theater resounded with shouts of "Mort à la assassine," and cries of vengeance upon him. When silence was in a measure restored, M. Rivaud briefly described the assault and informed the audience that the circumstances of the performance could not take place.

The audience then left the building, many of them proceeding at once to the prefecture where they stood in the streets waiting for any report that might be vouchsafed them from the building, dismissing among themselves the horrible crime they considered had disgraced upon the fair fame of their city.

LYONS, June 25.—Shortly after midnight the archbishop of Lyons was summoned to the bedside of the dying president to administer to him the last rites of the Catholic church. Here he remained until 12:30 o'clock when he was summoned to the president's room, where he administered to him the sacrament.

M. Carnot remained conscious to the last. He realized that his life was rapidly ebbing, and twice he said "Je m'en va." Dr. Fouché leaned over the bed on which the president was lying and said to him: "Your friends are here, Monsieur le President."

He was in his last moments, and in less than a minute he gasped for breath, there was a convulsive shuddering of his body, and the president of France was dead.

Mme. Carnot is prostrated by the awful blow. When at the departing he Lyons yesterday the president raised his little granddaughter in his arms and fondly kissed her. It was his last kiss.

A cabinet council is called for Wednesday to confer and arrange for his successor.

Paris, June 25.—The funeral of President Carnot has been fixed for Sunday. The remains will be laid in the pantheon, where the victor Hugo is buried, beside those of Lazare Carnot, the president's grandfather.

Decorate on the Fourth.

Every citizen and business house should make it a point to make some preparation for decoration on the Fourth. Napoleon should put on its best bib and tucker on that day, as our beautiful little city will be visited by hundreds of strangers. Decorate, it is nothing more than to display the national colors.

Look Out for a Sickly Season.

Sometimes a dose or two of the right kind of medicine taken in time will keep your system in a condition to go right along with your work, even though you may have a slight bilious attack. Saur & Balsey make a specialty of keeping on hand all the latest and best remedies for the sickly season, and cure of the diseases most prevalent at this season of the year, the prices of which are so low that everybody can afford to buy them.

The case of Ohio vs. Chas. E. Bronson occupied the attention of the court of common pleas in Defiance the three latter days of last week. The case was given the jury at 3:30 Saturday afternoon, and a verdict of guilty was reached in three quarters of an hour thereafter. Mr. Bronson was on trial for embezzlement of $500 from Peter Desgranges, Jr., of this county. A motion for a new trial was made, and if not granted then the case is to be carried to the circuit court.

World's Fair stockholders have been given dividends on stock. Clerks were a month in signing checks to pay the 10 per cent. dividend. They wrote 22,621 checks, ranging from $1 to $345,506.30. The total amount paid on these orders is a little more than $790,000. The largest one, $345,506.30, goes to the city of Chicago, being the dividend of ten per cent. on the city's $5,000,000 stock, less $254,403.91 which the Exposition company advanced for the Hyde Park pumping works and the police station. The next largest check was for $123,643 made to the Field Columbian Museum. This represented the dividend on $1,396,480 of stock donated to the museum.

RIDGEVILLE CORNERS. F. A. ROWE.

S. S. WORKERS.

Ridgeville and Freedom Sunday School Convention.

RIDGEVILLE CORNERS, June 24th, 1894.—The Ridgeville and Freedom S. S. Convention came off yesterday at the Congregational Church in this village and was well attended from first to last.

After the devotional exercises the secretary reported the work done since the organization. This was followed by an excellent, well-worded report of the proceedings of the state convention at Dayton, presented by Mrs. C. C. Walcott, one of the delegates. Malcom Crockett, president of the county S. S. Association, was then introduced and gave a short talk on "How the Infidel Studies the Bible." He believed that many infidels were honest and sincere in their search for truth, and that they were being misled by unscrupulous persons who were using the Bible for their own purposes. He urged the S. S. workers to be true to the Bible and to the principles of Christianity.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Candee, after which S. A. Miller, of Fulton, gave a talk to the children on "Robert Raikes and his Sunday School." Rev. Candee followed on "The Relation of Children to the Church." The speaker believed that children should grow into Christ from infancy, and dwell much on the duties of parents along this line. He believed in instantaneous conversion, and yet he believed the normal method was a gradual unfolding from childhood. Child life was the model for the Christ life. "Except ye become as little children, ye can in no wise enter into the kingdom of Heaven." Miss Stella Kline gave an interesting recitation, "Pleek and Prayder." The subject "Ought the Sunday School to teach the Duties of Christian Citizenship," was taken up by Rev. L. E. Wilson, of Florida. He referred to the great evils now threatening us, such as the rum traffic, trusts and combines, and the grinding down of labor by millionaires, and affirmed that unless a new era of things was speedily introduced,

An estimate of the expenses, exclusive of transportation, telegraphing and other incidentals makes a total of $129,000.

TITIN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

TITIN, O., June 23.—A tornado swept a narrow path from the northwest to the southeast, just missing this city, tonight, and doing vast damage. Many farm buildings were unroofed, orchards ruined, trees uprooted, and crops destroyed by hail. Sam Stine, a farmer, was struck by a falling tree and fatally crushed.

TITIN, June 26.—Samuel Stine, the young man who was crushed to the earth by a falling tree in last Saturday's tornado, died at 6 o'clock this morning.

ELATED WHILE A PRIEST.

NONWALK, O., June 23.—Dr. Gustave Drolshagen, who, with his wife, was murdered at Lawley, Fla., a few days ago, by an unknown robber, was a former Catholic priest in North and held charge of St. Peter's church during the years 1872 and '74. He disappeared from here suddenly and unexpectedly and with him went a young lady, a nun or sister of clarity by the name of Louise Glasman. They went to Tennessee, and since that time nothing has been heard from them until the news of the death of Drolshagen and his wife. The young lady who eloped with him did not, as far as is known, marry him, but the report is that the two lived together for two years when Miss Glasman's sister, Hedding, came over from Germany to visit them and afterwards married Drolshagen. The church records, which our correspondent has had an insight into, says that Father Drolshagen was received into this diocese in 1868. After a short stay at Antwerp, Pa., in the county, he was appointed pastor of a church at Shelby settlement, in Richland county, in January, 1870, and continued as such until September, 1872.

Then he was appointed pastor of St. Peter's church in this city, and remained with this church until 1874. During that year he left in a sudden and mysterious manner. At the same time a nun or sister of Charity, who was his housekeeper or a teacher in the school, also disappeared and it was reported at the time that the two had gone together. They were afterwards heard from as stated, in Tennessee.

The pay rolls are now coming into the adjutant general's office. An estimate of the expenses exclusive of transportation, telegraphing and other incidentals makes a total of $139,000, and the amount is divided between the different commands as follows:

Second regiment	$15,000
Third regiment	8,000
Fifth regiment	18,000
Eighth regiment	19,000
